

PRESS RELEASE

New distribution centre opened the 13th of June in Norway!

June 2022

ColliCare is moving its distribution centre from Brånås/Skedsmokorset to a new and larger terminal at Kløfta.

The new terminal is 11.300 m² and will be ColliCare's domestic hub with distribution to all of Norway. The main business will be cross docking and distribution – for B2B and B2C deliveries. The location north of Oslo enables departures for local distribution in the late afternoon – which gives the customers more flexibility in terms of including late placed orders from their customers. The distribution terminal at Skedsmokorset no longer covers the need for space. A new terminal allows ColliCare to deliver domestic services of high quality. Larger facilities are needed to handle further growth and an increased focus on Home Delivery. They are now prepared for efficient transport to the whole of Norway – both to the B2B and B2C markets.

The building

- 60 ramps
- 32 loading bays with roof
- 11 305 m² in total
- 1 800 m² offices divided into 3 floors

It is built according to the TEK 17- Norwegian standard and includes:

- Waste management.
- Waste sorting.
- AC charging for EV vehicles (both vans and passenger cars).
- DC charging for trucks/distribution vans.

The new office houses 86 desks, with domestic operation and service and air freight employees now based at Kløfta. The terminal is operative 24/7.

Services

In addition to nationwide transport, services like container trucking, customized exclusively fixed routes, delivery/express, crane deliveries, delivery to building sites and InNight distribution are offered.

The terminal also contains ColliCare's Home Delivery, where ColliCare now focuses on the B2C market.

ColliCare is still a challenger in the domestic transport market in Norway. The distribution service was launched in 2010 and has grown steadily since. Advantages are still the opportunity to offer services that are customized, flexible and their customer service.

Management

Tone Lundgaard is the Managing Director for the new facilities at Kløfta.

She comments: “We now have a new terminal with large capacity and efficient logistics. Everything is brand new and adapted to our customers’ needs. We moved into the terminal on the 10th of June, and all employees are now ready to handle existing and new customers. Now we have the facilities which provide necessary conditions for further growth”.

Tom Erik Hauger is Development Manager Domestic. He comments: «ColliCare is taking a huge leap with the new terminal at Kløfta, a top modern and environmental friendly cross docking terminal with a sorting plant and everything facilitated for operations and growth in many years to come.

We also believe that the location is for the enormous business development north of Oslo, and closeness to many of our largest customers.

We also hope the location at Romerike can be an advantage for new business with many exciting and potential customers in the area”.
